

From Sussex County Community College:

Douglas Oswin – Doug is another one of our NJ STARS scholarship recipients with us today. He will receive his associate degree in English literature later this month, and plans to earn his Ph.D. and become a college professor teaching English.

Doug is the President of the Alpha Upsilon Pi Chapter. He has coordinated the Chapter's student involvement in Honors Study Topics including: The Power of Gender in Relationships; The War in Iraq; and The Issues of Power in Mary Shelly's Frankenstein.

Doug is also the President of the Performing Arts Club, where he has coordinated the group's productions of A Christmas Carol, Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, Smokey Joe's Café, and Arsenic and Old Lace.

One could also say that Doug is the "face" of Sussex County Community College, having served as a representative in the College's advertising campaign, appearing in cable television commercials, print advertisements, and student recruitment literature.
